Ah Angel Obinim, You have disappointed many of us who are your fans. Why would you want to taint your white robe with palm oil? Stay away from so called Gospel musicians with a truck load of controversies .....Nobody can mock the real God. My opinion.

@Priscilla Sarpong : I am not God but I am His vehicle and defender. From experience, I have come to notice that Birds of the same feathers flock together. Defenders of visible vices are equally collaborators. God help everyone and open real believers' ears to see what is going on in Ghana, the demonic take over of the nation.

Are you not afraid to call your self a defender of God...is God so weak that he will need a feeble human like you to defend Him

Christ Jesus. I don't know your faith background from the way you responded, but be informed that every true believer has a responsibility to defend God through outreach. ( 2 Timothy 3:14-16; Romans 1:16; Philippians 1:15-18) He provided His WORD as a guide for us to share with people whose lives need improvement. When we defend people who wear mask to recruit people into the other Kingdom ( You know what I am talking about), we have to wake up to stop it. God loves you Bro Michael. No "Macho" posture in attacking God's commission.

@Michael Senya if you had read your bible and know for yourself you must have known true believers and saints defends our God's name. Don't follow these pastor's blindly. Know the word for your self. Shalom!

Spiritum Spiritus defending God does not mean going about judging a woman who is singing God,s praises and dancing to it. That same bible you are quoting tells us that David danced till he was almost naked. People like you judged him for whole heartedly praising his God. You can defend your God like you are saying. However, don't attack others who are equally doing the same for God. Go and defend your God amidst the occultist and mallams. Some of you act all perfect out there. But none is holy.

.....are you to tell who God will reject or accept?
